Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer image file printout is deemed objectionable because it promotes and supports the exploitation of children for sexual purposes.

The printout is a copy of a sexually explicit monochrome drawing. It depicts three young, naked pixie or elf children, and a stout adult male elf figure who kneels imperiously behind one, about to perform a sexual act aided by the others. The likely purpose of the printout's image is to titillate or arouse adults with a sexual interest in children. The fictional nature of the depiction does not alter this purpose. The availability of the image is likely to encourage sexual interest in children, and strengthen the idea that children may be used for adult sexual gratification. In computer file format the image is capable of distribution or trading among like-minded individuals. The effect is to encourage the sexual exploitation of children.

The classification of this publication interferes with the right to freedom of expression set out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990. However, this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's intention and is a reasonable limitation on the freedom of expression. The classification reflects the concern of a free and democratic society to protect its young and vulnerable members from sexual exploitation.
